

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0051] A camera assembly for a mobile communication device comprises a camera, and a first portion adapted to rotate the camera. The first portion comprises a housing, a gear motor mounted in the housing for generating a rotational force, and a decelerator adapted to decelerate the rotational force for the purpose of rotating the camera.